

CDU's new course to address NT's critical shortage of pharmacists

Charles Darwin University (CDU) will address the critical shortage of pharmacists in the Northern Territory by reinstating pharmacy training.

CDU's Bachelor of Pharmacy course was first established in the early 2000s and produced a steady stream of pharmacy graduates, many of whom stayed in the Territory to complete their internships and to work as registered pharmacists.

In 2019, the University ceased offering its four-year Bachelor of Pharmacy course due to low enrolments.

Now CDU will offer a two-year Master of Pharmacy course on a graduate entry basis for students who hold a degree in health sciences. The course is slated to commence in 2023 with an initial, modest intake of 30 students.

More here: <https://www.cdu.edu.au/news/cdu%E2%80%99s-new-course-address-nt%E2%80%99s-critical-shortage-pharmacists>

Kind Regards,

Sunny Liu
Communications Officer

Marketing, Media and Communications

T: +61 8 8946 6721

M: +61 466 781 178

E: sunny.liu@cdu.edu.au

W: cdu.edu.au

Personal Pronouns: she/her

You make CDU